

Nearly 1 in 5 people have a disability.

Each of us at some point will interact with a person with a disability or difference. We help K-5 students learn about disabilities and differences - what that really means and doesn't mean. Education is the first step towards acceptance, empathy and a more inclusive environment for all.

It's time we DISS ableism. Build a brighter, more inclusive future today.

Educating Outside The Lines (EOTL) is an interactive disability awareness program for grades K-5. Our hands-on, grade-differentiated curriculum focuses on familiarity, understanding and acceptance. We use real wheelchairs, prosthetics and other able-ing equipment to bring our message to life. This hands-on instruction is proven to lower the discomfort and avoidance of what's unfamiliar and alter a child's perception of what it means to live with a disability on a daily basis.

HOW DOES EOTL WORK?
